FUND COMMENTARY

The Pie KiwiSaver Growth Fund returned 2.7% in March, bringing it to a 12-month return of 16.9%.

As you will see when you log in to check your current KiwiSaver balance, the performance for the last five months has been up and to the right, almost in a straight line. A survey from Bank of America on investor sentiment in March showed investor sentiment is the most bullish it has been in two years, but it is still well below its peak in 2021. We believe this is evidence that the market has plenty of room to move higher in this current rally, albeit perhaps not in a straight line, as it has been since November last year.

March continued the bullish theme, with several stocks having a very strong month. Investment themes we follow that outperformed included commodities (copper, gold, & oil), data centres, and a few other select names that benefited from ongoing positive sentiment towards AI.

Two of the fund's best performers were strongly linked to the AI theme, with Nvidia rising another 14% and TSMC rising 13% as chip demand related to AI infrastructure stayed high. Another good performer was Dexcom, which makes Continuous Glucose Monitors for diabetes patients. The shares rose 20% in the month as the company is gaining a share in a growing market, and it has some exciting new product launches on the horizon. Newmont Mining, the large gold miner, rose 16% from oversold levels as the gold price broke out to new all-time highs. The only substantial negative performer was Adobe, which fell 10%.

We took profits in Alcon which had performed well, and exited small holdings in Sixt and BeiJier Ref. These funds were recycled into existing holdings and one new position in TotalEnergies, a well-run French oil and gas producer that is transitioning successfully towards renewables.
